THE GREAT KICK

By: Dinkleman Cheese on October 6th, 2022

On the quiet afternoon of October 5th, 2022, just yesterday, members of the Gange Council were sparked into an epic division when Vibbo Munts, the server owner, proposed a new competition for the server's new system. Council member Nic challenged his notion quickly and said, "Who will participate?" council member Dano responded, "I will" almost immediately after. And just like that, the line was drawn. Nic was supported by his friend and council member, Aggo Bagels, and Vibbo was supported by council member Dano. An argument ensued about the future of the server and whether or not a system should be in place. Vibbo and Dano's side argued that the changes would bring fun and activity back to the server. Whereas Nic and Aggo saw the server as solely a place to play games. "I only use this [server] for duck game." said Nic. Quickly, they came to an agreement that if they were to let the changes occur, the random members must be kicked. The extremity of such an event differed, however. Because Nic and Aggo (and their supporters) saw the server as a place only for homies and not anyone else. This meant the newfound friends of Vibbo and Dano must be kicked. But Vibbo and Dano didn't want to kick everybody. So a poll was constructed to settle the issue, and as time passed, more and more voted 'yes' to kick everyone but the homies. Vibbo was in a panic, as noted here in the screenshots. And Nic and Aggo celebrated their lead with celebratory memes and patriotic photos of the homies.

But nevertheless, the tension was growing; it seemed soon the issue would be resolved one way or another, and then the poll closed. Vibbo foolishly assumed the outcome was against him, so he began the Great Kick, kicking every random member and his old virtual friends; all the while, Nic and Aggo celebrated their supposed victory, only for Vibbo to discover that his side had won the vote. If he had only thought to read the poll results, he could have avoided his defeat, but it was already too late. The moment of realization sank Vibbo's heart like a boulder in the water, and the victorious flame of Nic and Aggo was dimmed with slight disappointment. Dano and Jean expressed their dissatisfaction with the outcome, mainly with the kicking of Krakenite member, Coomerbile. Nic and Aggo, although previously reluctant to compromise, honorably allowed one. They let the invitation of any extended friends kicked on the basis that if they want to be on the server, they will join. Quickly some of the lost homies rejoined, and all was well.

THE GREAT KICK: OPINION

"The tension of yesterday's event was unlike anything in the server since the age of Landon Keefe and Don Cheadle." Said Vibbo Munts. Regardless of whichever side you supported yesterday, you can't deny that the changes that occurred will only further our gange into extra fun for the coming months. This kind of lighthearted competition for the future of the server is bringing interesting events back into the server for good.

NEW COIN, NEW ECONOMY?

By: Econ Dinkle on October 6th, 2022

Yesterday, the new coin was voted into effect, defeating many other entries including a new version of the Apachian Pin, but people question the meaning behind the new coin and what the cheetos in the coin represent. Here is an insightful look into the inspiration from the creator of the coin, Jean, AKA Bloobie, "[I] originally wanted to use the plant versus zombie Jesus actually. But then I saw the Abraham Lincoln one and I thought it'd be better."

"The Jesus Penny"

Defeated designs,

"The Apachian Pin"

"The Ctouh Coin"

"The Cheeto Coin"

Unlike the Jesus coin, the Cheeto Coin, designed by Server Owner Vibbo Munts, is a clear ode to Landon Keefe, the infamous yet notable server figure responsible for becoming a server deity and Christmas figure. However, Jean clarifies her coin is not meant to represent Landon Keefe, "The Cheeto puff background [is because] I was eating Cheeto puffs." She said in an interview. There were also two other coins created by Aggo Bagels, but unfortunately, the designs of both the Coolio Coin and the Box Coin were not yet revealed. Nevertheless, they both managed to receive one vote. Dano's coin, the Ctouh Coin, was the second most-voted coin on the ballot, "Ctouh coin. Very cool." Said Dano.

Jesus responds!

Says, "I'm not really interested in being a coin."

Will the Gange honor his interests? Or will we continue down the path of Jesus Supremacy?

BATMAN TO BECOME LOCAL DEITY?

Local server superstar Aggo Bagels has been famous for his cam appearance as the popular superhero 'Batman.' In the Great Kicking, he was often brought up as the deciding figure, siding with his friend Nic in the situation. "He's a living example of what everyone should strive to be," said Pickson, a popular alt account for Vibbo Munts, "the minute I saw him up there was the minute I knew our server would never be the same."

This poses an interesting question for the members of the server. If Batman is in our logo and name, why isn't he on our currency? Could Jesus replace this iconic hero as the face of our server? Or could they simply coexist. Only time will tell.

KEVINO TO TRY SPORTS COMMENTATOR?

Long time Kevin Pepino announced a question yesterday if he should push for the position of sports commentator for Lane Tech College Prep with significant support.

Sports Commentators are witty and fast communicators. Many would argue that both are traits of the Great Kevin.

- "Joe Rogan." - Aggo Bagels
- "ye do it." - Nic
- "Balls." - Jesus Roblox
- "I say do it Kebo" - Vibbo Munts

Kevin says, "I can do [sports commentating] on ocasion for fútbol."

CHRISTMAS ICON 'PORGE MONEY' KICKED IN ACTION!

Famed Christmas superstar Porge Money was kicked yesterday as a part of the Great Kick. He was known most famously for his hit album A Porgy Christmas, written and performed by Killersdave09. His Christmas cheer had reached the hearts of many in the server until Landon Keefe challenged A Porge's Christmas' authority with The Landon Christmas Collection meant to triumph over A Porgy Christmas. However, when it was revealed that Landon Keefe was a fraud, the production quickly lost traction, and the album was scrapped. Until now, Christmas legend Porge Money had upheld his title as Christmas King. But will he continue his reign even in his absence?
